Three Trainmen on Toledo, Peoria and Western Railw'y Shot

Strike Violence Reaches New High; President Urged to Take Line

Peoria, Ill., March 14—(AP)—Three trainmen were shot last night in strike violence climaxing day during which a senator demanded that President Roosevelt take over operation of the 239-mile Toledo, Peoria & Western railroad.

Senator Mead (D-N.Y.) urged residential intervention unless George P. McNear, president of the shortline, immediately stopped the violence described as the defiance of "all authority". He said McNear had been locking out employees and had defied all attempts of authorities to settle the 76-day-old controversy over a new union contract.

McNear, who refused to comply with a compulsory order of the War Labor Board to arbitrate the dispute, said meanwhile he was giving careful consideration to the board's final demand for arbitration. The board said in its order "any refusal to settle a railroad dispute involving a small but vital link of transportation" was intolerable in time of war.

104 Employees Involved

The line, running between Effner, Ind. and Keokuk, Ia., serves as a bypass around Chicago for transcontinental freight shipments. The dispute involves 104 employees.

As the result of last night's shotgun ambush of a train crew, Engineer E. C. Pittman was killed and the other two employees, physicians said. The others wounded were Bert Taylor, fireman, and Harold Kipling, the line's chief special agent.

During the last few days, including AFL and CIO unions, have stopped train movements. Two railroad buildings were set afire Wednesday night.

Brotherhoods of railroad trainmen, locomotive firemen and engineers struck Dec. 28 in protest at a proposed contract would.

Restrictions Lifted On Typewriter Rentals

Washington, March 14—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration today lifted restrictions on typewriter rentals and announced a plan for the limited rationing of used machines under temporary price ceilings.

The rationing will begin April 13 with the prices fixed at March 5 levels. Rental charges also are fixed under a 60-day emergency ceiling, effective immediately.

New typewriter stocks, now frozen, are not affected by the OPA order, but it was said some new machines soon may be allocated. The used machines may be sold only to prime contractors at work on military or naval cantonments, shipyards or air bases, and operators of plants holding highest priority ratings. Even they must prove immediate need.

No Sugar Rationing Likely Until April

Washington, March 14—(AP)—Sugar rationing probably will not become effective until some time next month, the Office of Price Administration indicated today.

Details of the program still must be worked out, officials said, and a decision to determine industrial allotments on an individual basis will require additional time. Originally it was proposed to make a cut reduction in the amount of sugar used by various industries.

The weekly amount of sugar to be allowed each domestic consumer and the final dates for consumer registrations have also to be decided upon. The OPA said the weekly individual ration probably would be eight or 12 ounces, depending on the amount of sugar made available for distribution by the war production board.

David Bibb Graves, 68, Former Alabama Chief Executive, Dies Today

Montgomery, Ala., March 14—(AP)—David Bibb Graves, 68, vice governor of Alabama and a candidate for a third term, died unexpectedly at Sarasota, Fla., early today.

Reds Closing Trap on Invading German Troops at Smolensk

"Escape Corridor" Cut to 20 Miles, Reports from Front Say

(By The Associated Press)

Russian troops were reported to have narrowed the "escape corridor" of Adolf Hitler's armies on the Moscow front to 20 miles today as the soviet counter-offensive rolled on toward Smolensk and crushed desperate German attempts to strike back.

Smolensk, 230 miles west of Moscow, is the key nazi base on the entire central front.

Advices reaching London said the Russians were steadily closing the jaws on a trap around German forces now virtually bottled up in the Rzhev-Vyazma region.

The lone channel of retreat was cut to a width of 20 miles presumably near Durovo, on the Vyazma-Smolensk highway about 35 miles west of Vyazma. Russian troops had last been reported 70 miles apart in that area, driving down from Bely in the north and up from Dorogobuzh in the south.

Information was lacking on the number of German troops threatened by the huge Red army encirclement, but at the peak of the nazi offensive against Moscow between 600,000 and 1,000,000 Germans were reported operating in that region.

Red Announcement Brief

A soviet bulletin reported tersely that "our troops continued offensive operations against the German fascist invaders and advanced."

"On some sectors, the enemy made counterattacks which were repulsed with heavy losses to him".

Eleven "populated places" were retaken from the Germans in the drive toward Smolensk, the Russian communiqué said.

Hitler's field headquarters acknowledged that the Russians were continuing their "unsuccessful" attacks along the entire front.

In the Crimea, the German high command said, Red Army forces strongly supported by tanks and planes unleashed a new assault upon German-Rumanian positions on the Kerch peninsula but were thrown back "in hard fighting".

The Kerch peninsula, mostly recaptured by the Russians, is the gateway to the rich Caucasian oil fields.

14,000 Nazis Killed

Soviet front-line dispatches said 14,000 Germans had been killed in 15 days of fighting in the battle of Staraya Russa, 120 miles south of Leningrad, where the nazi 16th army had been trapped for a month.

In aerial warfare, British RAF bombers struck overnight at the Rhineland industrial city of Cologne, dropping a "great weight" of high explosives and setting hue fires, the London Air Ministry reported.

Berlin acknowledged that "various places in western Germany and particularly residential districts in Cologne" were bombed as RAF fliers pressed their new prepping offensive to blast Germany's foundries.

Continued occupation trouble for the axis was reported in Yugoslavia, a bloody struggle of troops and axis police with the guerrilla supporters of Gen. Draja Mihailovic increasing in tempo with the approach of another spring.

Dispatches of DNB and Belgrade and Zagreb newspapers, which touched only lightly upon losses among supporters of the puppet government, reported a total of 965 guerrillas killed in a series of recent engagements.

In the Libyan sector, artillery activity in dispersing axis patrols was reported today by British Middle East headquarters.

Ticklish

Moscow, Mar. 14—(AP)—An unexploded shell two inches in diameter was removed from the side of a Red army soldier in a delicate operation unique in the history of surgery, the Tass news agency reported today.

The soldier, Nikolai Bystrikov, is recovering.

He was hit in February by a German mortar projectile which penetrated his right shoulder and buried itself in his side.

Bystrikov, realizing an explosion might occur at any moment, warned stretcher bearers away and tried twice to kill himself with a hand grenade, but was too weak to do so, Tass said.

The stretcher bearers carried him back to a crude field hospital, where Dr. M. M. Pakhman decided to operate.

The doctor ordered the staff to leave, but all insisted on staying to assist, and the shell was removed without incident.

Loss of Two More Merchant Ships in Atlantic Announced

52 Men Missing From Their Crews; Cargo Insurance Upped

Washington, March 14—(AP)—Two, possibly three, more merchant ships have been torpedoed, and marine underwriters have raised war risk insurance "as a direct result of the continued submarine menace to these waters".

The navy announced the torpedoing of a small Norwegian merchant ship off the Delaware-Maryland coast and a small U. S. merchant ship in the Caribbean area. The captain of the Norwegian vessel was killed and five men are missing. Fourteen survivors reached shore.

The torpedoing of the 7,005-ton U. S. freighter Texan was announced at Havana. Nine of the Texan's crew of 47 were missing. It was not known whether the Texan was the small U. S. merchant ship referred to by the navy as torpedoed in the Caribbean area.

Underwriters made comparable increases in rates on shipments between the Gulf and West Indies and north coast South American ports and on other routes involving Atlantic coast courses. The rate on tanker cargoes in the Pacific was moved up from 50 cents to $1 per $100.

Czech President Sees Nazi Defeat

London, March 14—(AP)—Broadcasting to the Czech people on the eve of the third anniversary of the German army's entrance into Prague, Dr. Edward Benes, president of the provisional Czech government, declared today that Hitler's generals "no longer believe in a German victory and say themselves that only a miracle could save Germany".

Dr. Benes predicted that Germany's spring offensive against Russia would be their final disappointment.

"Even though I expect some successes for them at the beginning of this offensive. I count on our experiencing events this autumn which will proclaim to us the inevitable crisis and catastrophe of the entire German military and political system", he said.

"The climax can scarcely come later than spring of next year. Japan cannot help Germany out of this catastrophe even if in the spring she huris herself against the soviet union in Siberia. In the end Japan will be defeated by the fall of Germany".

The nazi empire today is like the Hapsburg empire of 1918, full of mortal tension, Dr. Benes said, and the "great victory and resurrection of the Czech people are not far off".

Little of Unusual in Day's News From Far Pacific Fronts

Closer Cooperation Between Australia and United States Asked

By The Associated Press

Dutch troops were authoritatively declared today to be fighting on against the Japanese in Java, batt' scarred heart of the Netherlands East Indies which Tokyo claimed last week-end, as well as on the islands of Celebes and Sumatra.

Lieutenant Governor Hubertus J. Van Mook of the N. E. I. announced the continued resistance at Melbourne, "saying refugee officers were still in radio contact with Sumatra and "hope to establish additional communication with Java."

"Japanese claims of capturing the entire forces are false and our men are fighting in the hills now," Van Mook said, ridiculing reports that the invaders had rounded up 98,000 Dutch, Australian, British and United States defenders.

Closest cooperation between Australia and the United States in the Pacific war was urged by Prime Minister John Curtin in a broadcast today with a declaration that if the invasion-menaced commonwealth falls to the Japanese "the Americas are wide open."

Speaking directly from Canberra to the people of the United States as his "comrades in this war," Curtin said that "saving Australia is saving America's west coast."

Diverse Reports Today

Reports from the far-flung combat ones were diverse.

Two Australian ships were reported missing and presumed lost on a voyage from the Java sea battle area. These were the 6,980-ton cruiser Perth, a veteran of Mediterranean warfare, and the 1,060-ton sloop Yarra. Their crews totaled 833 men.

Allied bombers destroyed or damaged 13 Japanese aircraft aground Thursday at the off-raided port of Rabaul, New Britain, and airdrome runways were pitted in an attack upon Gasmata, another city of the island which may become an invasion springboard, the air ministry said.

Closer to Australia, Japanese fighters attacked Port Moresby, New Guinea, with machine gun and cannon fire. The air ministry dismissed this with the observation that "one member of the RAAF was wounded in the leg."

On the Burma front, British headquarters indicated that Japanese invasion forces were attempting to outflank British troops holding the Rangoon-Mandalay road north of Pegu.

Japanese patrols were reported thrusting into the Taikkyi region, 40 miles northwest of Rangoon, on a wide sweep to the west of the main British forces drawn up on the storied road to Mandalay some 80 miles north of the enemy-occupied capital of Burma.

A British communiqué said briefly that operations were proceeding satisfactorily.

President Wants All Auto Speeds Limited to 40 Miles Per Hour

Washington, March 14—(AP)—President Roosevelt has written state governors asking their cooperation to conserve rubber by limiting the maximum speed of all motor vehicles to 40 miles an hour and requiring frequent checking of tires for possible repair or retreading.

The White House announced today that identical letters had been sent to the governors of all 48 states.

"Reduction of speed limits and regular inspection of tires," the president said, "constitute another important means of federal-state cooperation in the war effort."

Army Leases Illinois Fair Grounds Last Eve

Springfield, Ill., March 14—(AP)—Army Air Corps engineers are expected to begin work early next week on converting the Illinois state fairgrounds into a training center for airplane repairmen. Agriculture Director Howard Leonard said today.

An agreement leasing the fairgrounds to the army for the duration of the war was reached last night, Leonard said. Meanwhile, agriculture department officials were surveying other fairgrounds in the state to determine whether the state fair could be held this summer at some other location.

First Shell of War Falls on New York City; None Hurt; Accidental

New York, March 14—(AP)—The first shell of the war fell on Manhattan yesterday, chipped a corner of a Wall street skyscraper and caused excitement in the financial district before officials learned the shot was fired accidentally from an American anti-aircraft gun.

Seven other shells were believed to have landed in the East river.

The hit on the 40-story Equitable building at 120 Broadway knocked pieces of brick from a ledge between the 37th and 38th floors of the $28,750,000 structure, raining debris and shell fragments to the busy street below. No one was injured.

As the army started an investigation, Maj. Gen. Sanderford Jarman, commanding general of the anti-aircraft artillery command, eastern theater of operations, issued this statement: "At about 3:30 p. m. this date (Friday), one of the automatic anti-aircraft weapons located along the East river accidentally discharged eight rounds. As far as can be learned to date, seven of these rounds are believed to have fallen into the river and one to have hit 120 Broadway, knocking out a few bricks."

"Preliminary investigation indicates that the accident occurred through some mechanical failure in the firing mechanism of the gun. Further investigation is being carried out."

The shells came from a 37-millimeter gun that fires automatically at the rate of 125 rounds a minute. The shells weigh about a pound each.

Happily there are signs to support the prediction, the Red Star, the soviet arm's publication, that the approaching spring offensive will be Russian and not German.

If this forecast proves to be true, it will mean that Herr Hitler will continue on the defensive and will fight as the Bolsheviks want him to—not as he has hoped. In short, it's calculated to make good the Muscovites' claim that they can beat the nazi Napoleon this year, if their allies help out with equipment.

Moscow declares that the Hitlerian war-machine is worn out from its bloody losses during the nazi offensive last fall and from the terrific punishment it has received this winter, both from the enemy and from a killing cold that can be more devastating than bullets. That claim still has to be substantiated, but there is no evidence at hand to controvert it, for the Reds continue their steady if somewhat slow advance at many points along the attenuated battlefield.

In any event, it's patent that the fierce Russian pressure is giving Hitler little chance to repair the ravages of the winter fighting. His men are dog tired and many of them are suffering from the effects of the sub-zero weather and privations. Moreover, the Germans have lost mountains of equipment, creating a grave problem of replacement.

Because of this situation, the remaining weeks before the last Russian spring unlocks the great rivers and clears the steppes of snow, are of utmost importance. From Leningrad as far southward as Kiev, spring doesn't show itself until late April, and sometimes may linger into May. In the Ukraine spring comes earlier.

Thus the several weeks still remaining before spring along most of the front are golden ones for the Bolsheviks. If things continue to go well they may be able to batter the nazis into such a condition as to have won the first leg of the spring offensive before it even starts.

The Reds have the great advantage of being equipped for winter warfare and thereby possessing a mobility which is denied to the unprepared Germans. The Russians are using their famous cavalry divisions—and they have many—which can operate in snow that utterly ties up tanks and other heavy mechanical equipment.

The Muscovites also are employing many ski troops and guns mounted on skis and sleds. Their warplanes too are adapted to the fierce winter weather whereas the Germans have been woefully weak in this respect.

Leonard Gallentine Becomes Unruly and Lands in Two Jails Last Night

Leonard Gallentine, 512 Van Buren avenue, staged a one-man riot last evening at his home and later at the police station lock-up, according to the police report, and in three hours was in two jails. Police received the first complaint about 7:30 o'clock when it was reported that Gallentine had threatened the life of his wife, Esther, at their home. Mrs. Gallentine filed a complaint charging her husband with malicious assault and using a shot gun in threatening her.

Three police officers armed with the warrant, went to the Gallentine home, where they reported finding two guns, but experienced little difficulty in placing him under arrest. It was not until he reached the police station that he became unruly and it required the efforts of four of the city employees to place him in a cell in the city jail.

When locked up, Gallentine was reported to have turned on the water faucets to flood the quarters, but his action was discovered in time and the water service was closed. About 10:30 o'clock in his ravings, he resorted to other methods, and was said to have set fire to a mattress in his cell. An aged transient who had been accommodated with sleeping quarters in the cell block, was aroused by the smoke fumes which filled the jail section, and notified the police.

Members of the fire department was summoned and found Gallentine, lying on the floor of the cell, overcame by the smoke fumes, and rescued him, then extinguished the smoldering fire. As soon as this was accomplished, Gallentine was taken by police to the county jail, where he was held without further incident, pending his arraignment.

WALL POSITION OF THERMOSTAT IMPORTANT

In homes where the furnace is controlled by an automatic thermostat it may very often be found more comfortable if the thermostat is placed at a low position on the wall of the living room, approximately 30 inches from the floor, instead of at the usual five-foot height. Federal Housing Administration technical experts point out.

With gas or oil-fired furnaces this idea works particularly well, since the heat supply in these is cut off promptly when the room temperature goes up enough to put the thermostat to work, and the house may get more uncomfortably cool before the heat is turned on again and builds up to the comfort point.

On the other hand, even when a coal fire is shut down, the fuel bed continues to send up a certain amount of heat.

SINK CABINETS

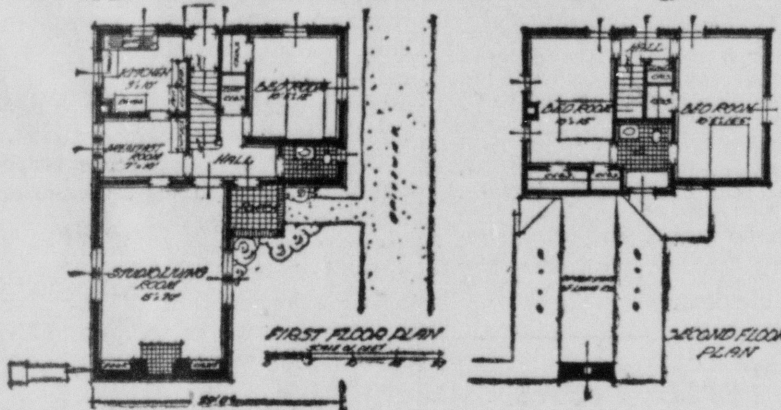

The new metal sink cabinets now available for almost every type of kitchen come in a number of shapes and sizes. They may be of steel or wood, but all may be secured in beautiful colors. These cabinets are placed under the sink and have commodious compartments of drawers or shelves and they transform an ageing kitchen.

The steel cabinets are of course the most sanitary.

HOT WATER NEEDS FOR THE HOME

Hot water is one of the greatest enemies of germs. During the winter, when colds are more numerous, an abundant supply of hot water is protection to family health.

The availability of an adequate supply of hot water makes possible the sterilization of dishes, careful cleansing of hands before eating, and increases the frequency of baths and showers which will help build up resistance protection.

Steam or hot water heating plants can be equipped with indirect water heaters with funds obtained from private lending institutions approved by the Federal Housing Administration, under the FHA's Title I Home Repair Plan.

SIGNS OF DECAY: First signs of decay may already be apparent on your building—a leaking roof, paint-thirsty surfaces, sagging doors, rusted sheet metal. All these things, unless remedied at once, mean a rapid accumulation of expenses.

IRONING BOARDS

Should Be Built-In

An ironing board cabinet may be installed wherever it is most convenient to iron or where wall space is available. The cabinet may be fastened to or built-in the wall. Various types ready to install can be purchased, or a carpenter can make one with a few boards.

The cabinet should be of sufficient width and height to accommodate an ironing board of standard size. The board should be fastened at the wide end inside the cabinet at the height desired. When the top or narrow end is lowered to a level position it is supported with a drop leg. There should be a cross brace between the leg and the cabinet which folds in when the board is raised. An electric wall plug installed for the electric iron cord is an added convenience. A shelf at the bottom provides a place for keeping the iron.

When desired, a cabinet is easily built into the wall. Wood studing is customarily placed on 16-inch centers so that the plaster and lath can be removed between the two studs, which will usually leave an opening 3 1/2 inches deep and 14 3/8 inches wide. Cover the back of the opening with insulating wall board, or plywood, nail in cross boards for top and bottom of cabinet, build in the ironing board, install a narrow door, and paint the desired color.

Houses can look younger if practical considerations are taken into account in the ever-fascinating game of selecting color schemes.

THE IDEAL ROOM TEMPERATURE

Most persons think that 70 degrees is the ideal room temperature, but some heating experts say that comfort for many inactive persons requires at least 72 degrees, and in cold, dry weather as high as 78 degrees. In very cold weather, it is pointed out, the human body radiates heat to cold walls and windows, causing a chilly feeling. Absence of moisture in the air causes a sensation of cold.

Power drills and air compressors were first used in building the Mont Cenis tunnel near Savoy, France, between 1857 and 1872.

KITCHEN SINKS FOR A COOL SUMMER

The Sink Is the Axis of the Kitchen

By Paul T. Haagen

What is required in a kitchen sink and how should it be designed? What should it incorporate in order to be efficient and convenient, save time and labor for the housewife?

The height of the sink must be comfortable, must save bending of the back and shoulders of one who works there. She must be able to stand flush against it without bending. The faucets should be handy, set back out of the way while washing dishes, vegetables, etc. There should be a spray for rinsing dishes, washing vegetables and cleaning the sink tray. There should be no surfaces or crevices that will hold water or soil. All surfaces should drain properly.

There also should be a flat, safe, dry surface on which to set easily broken dishes. The drain-board should be wide and long, providing plenty of working surfaces but not tilted or grooved so that dishes or glassware tip or roll. It should be depressed deeply from the rim and dry ledge.

It goes without saying that the drain board must be integral with the basin, and the basin or sink proper should be both deep and wide with a drain set off-center for unobstructed working area at the basin bottom.

There also should be an arrangement for stopping the drain so that the basin itself may be used for dish washing and a provision made for straining out crumbs, etc.

The single spout on the faucet which swings, delivering tempered water, is desirable.

This is advisable because it can be pushed entirely out of the way when not in use.

Experience seems to know that the sink should be of genuine porcelain enamel on rigid cast iron. It should be acid-resisting, smooth, bright, glaze for easy maintenance and for appearance.

Today the new cabinet sinks with a cabinet below the sink

How to Cool Your Home

It is a desirable to keep the rooms of the house as cool during the summer months as it is possible to do. This may be accomplished by opening doors and windows at night, letting the cool air enter the rooms, and then early in the morning closing all doors and windows and drawing the shades so that the rooms will be kept dark and retain their cool temperatures throughout the day.

Awnings are a great aid in keeping the inside of the house comfortable. They prevent the sun reaching the window panes and concentrating heat there, yet they permit the air to enter below them if the window is open.

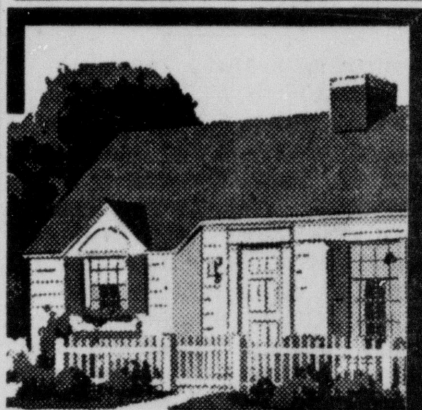

Another plan for reducing the temperature of the darkened, cool rooms in summer is to use the blower fan attachment on the furnace to draw the air into the always cool basement and bring the cool air down there up into the upper stories.

If there is a terrace or garden surrounding the house, the doors on the shady side may be opened and the sprinkler system turned on so that the air entering the doors will be cool and moist. This helps greatly if there is illness and lower temperatures are especially desirable, or if you are having a party and you wish to have it as comfortable as you can.

DRESSING TABLE IN BATH URGED

Look around your bathroom and especially if you are installing a new one or modernizing the old one. Find a space for a bathroom dressing table, which makes an excellent accessory to the bath.

meat a demand for liberal storage space for utensils and equipment used at this important working center. The whole cabinet should be of smooth, regular glistening enamel surface.

Building Is Defense Aid

We all know that the chief aim of everyone, at this time, is to do all that we possibly can to aid our country come out victors in the struggle in which we are embroiled.

We also know that all of us, to the extent of our capabilities are doing our part.

We do think that it is of interest to the people in general to know something about the effort different individuals and businesses are putting forth to meet this problem and what steps they have taken to contribute their share in all out national cooperation.

Take the building industry, which is a vital factor in war time. We can best use ourselves as examples for naturally we are more familiar with all our operations than that of others. However, we are reasonably sure that we're speaking for builders in general, especially those whose foresight enabled them to take the same precautions that we did.

Yes, it is more difficult to obtain the materials needed in this construction, but we pride ourselves in the fact that our warehouses are crammed full and our orders are so placed that this problem is only a minor importance.

We have the material. Another move to aid in the building of small homes is the stabilizing of prices. Because we have maintained a complete supply and due to our system of ordering and organization, our prices are not sky high. We will say that though we have not raised our prices, unforeseen circumstances may force us to do so. We will be frank in saying that no matter what happens we will never raise prices out of proportion to their cost to us and we anticipate that in the future it is possible that we will not maintain the regular fair profit percentage as enjoyed during peace time.

In these ways and in many others we are co-operating as a member of the building industry with our government. How about you—Mr. Builder?

KEG O' NAILS

CROWD GOES TO PIECES

Blankets were at a premium yesterday because of the chilly blasts that swept the football field. Many wrapped their legs up with newspapers, finally tossing them onto the playing field despite the protests of angry ushers.—Minneapolis (Minn.) Tribune.

DOUBLE HEADER

Minister: "So God sent you two little brothers, Dorothy?" Dorothy: "Yes, and He only knows where the money's coming from. I heard daddy say so."

Mrs. Brown: "Whenever I'm in the dumps, I get myself a new hat."

Mrs. Jones: "I was wondering where you got them."

DO YOU...

NEED MORE CLOSET SPACE?

Have you ever seen a house with too much closet space? It seems that you always can use one or two more generous sized closets.

Why not salvage waste space by adding a closet or two to your home? The materials aren't expensive. Some stock doors, shoe racks, hat holders, trim, and mirrors, plus a little lumber for shelves, should give you a home with a greater living value.

Call us today and let us show you where and how inexpensively you can install extra closets in your home.

Concrete Floor Laid in Store

Murray Wentling, local general contractor, has been busy the last few days supervising the installation of a new concrete floor in the Boynton-Richards clothing store.

Materials used came from the Home Lumber Company and is just another testimonial of the faith placed in our stock by home owners, businesses, farmers, etc.

Take Care of Your Overhead

If you'll pardon a slight play on words, by overhead, we're referring to the roof on your house.

Winter weather takes its share of damage and hard wear on roofs. Like anything else, roofs can only stand so much and then they need repairing.

It's only common sense that tells us that the sooner we check on our roof and the sooner we make necessary repairs the more money we'll save.

Spring's not so far away—that means rain—and rain means costly roof leaks—if you're not prepared. Now's the time to have your roof checked; if there are weak spots make them water tight with MULE-HIDE Nu-Life and Stay-Tite. If the old roof's gone beyond repair replace it with a fire-resistant MULE-HIDE Cor-Du-Roy Roof.

Regardless, whether you need minor repairs or a new roof, we have the material to furnish you. You'll find our Cedar Shingles are more than practical for roofing in that they are laid right over the old shingles and thus give you double protection in the future.

Follow the example of other home owners and let us help you solve your roofing problems. Call 57 or 72 for information and prompt service.

High School Players Score Hit in Comedy, "Foot-Loose"

"Foot-Loose," the three-act show staged so successfully last evening on the stage of the Dixon high school auditorium by members of the school's Dramatic club was definitely comedy fare, but how the young players ever managed to keep their lines in their heads (when their hearts must have been with their basketball team in Ottawa) is just as definitely a mystery. If they were superstitious, the players (both dramatic and athletic) must have used all their most potent charms to dispel the evil spirits of the number-one jinx-day, Friday the thirteenth, because the play was satisfactory in every way, and the Dukes' success in dealing with LaSalle's Cavaliers is verified on the sport page.

To begin with, the Charles Quimby Burdette comedy has just about everything that it takes to make a good show—a realistic plot involving a present-day family residing in a Chicago suburb; a series of hilarious complications arising among the four children of the family, after they have succeeded in persuading their parents to take a vacation cruise; and a triple-feature romance to top off the whole thing.

In the story, Richard Early, vice president of a suburban bank, ad his wife, Emily, find themselves in the midst of a family rebellion, when their four children, Dick, Hope, Mary and Bob, agree that they are weary of being "supervised to death" by their fussy budget mother. As a result of the argument, Mr. Early agrees to take his wife away on a vacation cruise and permit the children to shift for themselves, with Delphie, the maid, in charge, except for finances, which are to be Hope's responsibility.

There are endless problems to solve, but by the time Richard and Emily return—a week before they are expected—Hope's romance with Sanford Welles, a young attorney, is on its way to happier days; Dick has made quite a sum by giving blood for transfusions at the hospital, where he is a senior medical student, and has married his sweetheart, Jenny Malloy; Bob, Dick's younger brother, has been able to take care of his personal expenses and to contribute toward damages to an expensive car, damaged by a jolly newly-purchased by Bob and his chum, "Buzz" Daily; Mary, Hope's younger sister, finds "Randy" Cunningham, her school sweetheart, willing to resume friendly relations, after her temporary infatuation with a visiting collegian, Jack Milford; Delphie returns from the hospital, following an attack of pneumonia, in good spirits, and the goose really is hanging high when Richard and Emily burst in upon the family.

Bob suggests to Hope that it might be just as well to allow their parents to enjoy the memory of their first real vacation without hearing of their adventures. And Hope agrees.

FROM PHOENIX

Mrs. John P. Striegel of Washington, D. C. is visiting here with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vaile of 507 North Hennepin. She is en route east from Phoenix, her former home, where she has been spending some time with friends.

players in the role of Hope. In her interpretation of a young social worker (who finds her romance with the young lawyer going awry, because her mother denied her an opportunity to cultivate personal charm, for the sake of maintaining a scholastic record), Rosanne made the character both sympathetic and appealing.

Apparently no one in Friday night's audience blamed the young attorney from falling in love with Hope all over again—the audience very evidently fell in love with her, too. It is Hope's impassioned analysis of conditions, under the wheedling of her aggressive mother, that makes her father realize that his brood "is growing up, and screeching to try its wings."

Another large share of the evening's acting honors went to Bud Bradford, also a senior, in the role of the irrepressible Bob. Slipping easily and comfortably into the role of a 16-year-old high school junior who finds himself involved in more difficulty than he had dreamed there was in the world, Bud's clowning was natural and delightful; he didn't miss a trick or laugh.

Refreshing spontaneity marked the performance of slender, dark-haired Georgia Jewett, as the younger sister, Mary, whose heart rules her head for a time, when the fascinating Milford appears on her social horizon. She gave an excellent portrayal of a young and impressionable high school senior, and was nice to look at in her becoming blue formal.

William Haefliger was well cast in the part of Dick, whose admission that he is "in love clear up to his ears" with Jenny, an art school student almost sends his mother into hysterics and hastens the Early's departure on their cruise.

Eileen Finney was the wheedling, aggressive mother, and took the difficult role neatly in her stride, as has come to be expected of this versatile young singer-actress. (Incidentally, Eileen is already hard at work on a leading role in the forthcoming operetta, "Trial by Jury," to be staged in mid-April).

In the role of Richard Early, the misunderstanding father, Roger Chapman offered a consistently good performance, and Rita Langan proved her ability as a character actress in the part of Delphie, the maid. Jean Stevens

Dixon students who make models that pass inspection in the Model Aircraft Project, being sponsored by the Dixon Lions club in cooperation with the United States Navy, Bureau of Aeronautics in Washington, will be rewarded with certificates bearing the personal signature of Admiral J. H. Towers, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics. A blank form of the certificate is pictured above.

The certificates will indicate the appropriate rank of "Aircraftman," based upon the number of approved models of different types completed by the student as follows: Cadet Aircraftman—One of any type of models complete; Ensign Aircraftman—Three of any type of models complete, including a scout bomber or an observation plane; Lieutenant Aircraftman (junior grade)—Five models completed, including one twin-engine bomber and planes from two nations; Lieutenant Aircraftman—Seven models completed, including a seaplane or twin-fuselage fighter.

Lt. Commander Aircraftman—Eight models completed, including a torpedo bomber or biplane and including planes from three nations; Commander Aircraftman—Nine models completed, including one four-engine bomber and including planes from four nations; Captain Aircraftman—Ten models completed, including planes from five nations and consisting of the following types: Fighter, scout bomber, observation plane, twin-engine bomber, seaplane, biplane, twin-fuselage fighter, torpedo bomber, four-engine army bomber, and four-engine patrol bomber.

The requirements are cumulative, and the awards should be progressive. To qualify as an Ensign Aircraftman, the student must first have qualified as a Cadet Aircraftman. The program will close June 30, 1942, and no further certificates are to be awarded after that date. Certiates are to be awarded on the basis of models which pass inspection, whether or not such models are actually shipped as part of the quota.

Approximately 220 grade and high school students are cooperating in the national program to build 500,000 solid scale model airplanes for the Navy, to provide both identification and range study for pilots. The models will serve also to train civilian "spotters" in identifying enemy planes. Safety of this country's major cities may soon depend upon the ability of citizens along coastal areas to spot and report quickly and accurately the types of enemy planes that may approach this country's shores.

C. B. Lindell and Charles Roundy, manual training instructors, are directing the construction work of the young aircraftmen, who have put aside all other assignments in favor of contributing directly to their nation's war effort. The local quota is 100 model planes.

Corinthian Shrine Elects Officers

Miss Gertrude Youngman, one of Dixon's few women attorneys, was elected worthy high priestess of Corinthian shrine, No. 40, White Shrine of Jerusalem, last evening at Brinton Memorial Masonic temple. She succeeds Mrs. Maud Hobbs.

Public installation of the new staff will take place at 8 o'clock Monday evening, March 30.

During the stated meeting which preceded the election, yearly reports were submitted by Mrs. Hobbs, Miss Patrick, and Miss Youngman, chairman of the auditing committee. The shrine now boasts a membership of 190, the reports revealed.

An invitation was read for the official visit which Job's Daughters are planning for later in the month. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

BRIDGE CLUB

Miss Mary Trombold was hostess to her fortnightly bridge club Thursday evening. Miss Marjorie Meerdink, an invited guest, won score honors in the card games. A St. Patrick's dessert course followed the close of play.

Bach Concert to Be Presented at Augustana College

Bach's stirring oratorio, "The Passion of Our Lord According to St. Matthew", considered one of the old master's greatest sacred musical compositions, will be presented for the fourth time by the Handel Oratorio society, at 3:30 p. m. Sunday, March 22, in the Augustana college auditorium. Long acclaimed for the magnitude of its depth and splendor, "The Passion", like other inspired works, presents new hidden treasures at each presentation.

The 300-voice double chorus which will sing Bach's masterpiece rehearsed for more than three years before presenting its first concert in 1939, and having continued to rehearse each year, the music of Bach has become part of their lives.

The concert will bring to Rock Island several nationally-known Bach soloists, each of whom has won distinction on concert stages throughout the country. The soprano role will be sung by Thelma von Eisenhauer of Detroit; the contralto is Eileen Law, Canada's foremost contralto, who has appeared annually in performances of St. Matthew's Passion with Sir Ernest MacMillan's Conservatory choir and Reginald Stewart's Bach choir; the tenor is William Hain of New York City.

The stellar baritone is Elwyn Carter of New York; and Mark Love, bass soloist, will return for the fourth consecutive year to sing the parts of Peter, Judas, and Pilate. He is heard weekly over the Mutual Broadcasting System, and is one of the most sought-after oratorio soloists in the country. Henry Veld directs the singers, and Brynolf Lundholm, brother of Fridolf Lundholm of this city, is their accompanist.

A Thought for Today

Rejoice not in iniquity, but rejoice in the truth; beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things.—I Corinthians 13:6-7.

Because indeed there was never law, or sect, or opinion, did so much magnify goodness, as the Christian religion doeth.—Bacon.

Giants Clash on Bataan

In this corner: General Tomoyuki Yamashita, conqueror of Malaya and Singapore, new yellow hope on Bataan peninsula.

He is the prototype of the efficient Japanese soldier, which means he is plenty good. He is hard. He is tested under fire. He learns quickly and well.

He fought the Chinese guerillas, learned their tricks and applied them in the Malayan jungles. He went to Germany and watched the Nazi air force in action. He returned to reorganize the Japanese air force along German lines. But in some things, notably the use of torpedo bombers, he improved on the German model.

He is 57. He has an Adolf Hitler mustache. He loves and reveres all things Prussian. He passionately hates the United States. He hopes and plans to destroy us.

He is a tough man in a fight.

In this corner, which is OUR corner: General Douglas A. MacArthur, defender of the Philippines and hero of Bataan.

Already he has been called the outstanding soldier of this war. He too is tough. He too is tested under fire, plenty of it. Obviously he too has learned quickly and well.

He fought under Pershing. But he is not fighting this war like another World War I.

He said the Philippines could be defended. He was called on to make good before he had time to get ready. But the Japanese would testify that he has done a job.

He is 62. He is hard and handsome. He is as American as pretty girls and corn bread and ice cream. He wears nobly the mantle of Washington, Jackson, Grant, Lee and Pershing. He is the living proof that some day and somehow we will win this war.

It goes without saying that he is a tough man in a fight.

So now these two clash on a little piece of land smaller than any of our states, a peninsula of jungles and mountains.

Yamashita has perhaps two hundred thousand seasoned Jap troops, plenty of everything, and he can bring in more.

MacArthur has probably no more than thirty thousand Americans and Filipinos. As long as the Japs hold their surrounding conquests, MacArthur cannot receive help. He must depend on his own genius and the courage of the fighting heroes who stand behind him.

All the odds are against MacArthur.

Yamashita should win.

But wouldn't it be great to see the two meet in even battle?

We pray that some day, somewhere, this nation will see to it that General Douglas A. MacArthur gets that chance.

Supreme Court Decision

Of what use is the Federal Anti-Racketeering Act? The question is suddenly made one of considerable moment. To suppress tactics employed by local members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters against "over-the-road" truckers in New York City, Assistant Attorney General Arnold obtained numerous indictments in 1938, charging violation of the act. Twenty-six persons were convicted. The convictions were upset last year by the Circuit Court of Appeals and now the Supreme Court of the United States affirms the reversal by a six-to-one vote.

According to the Anti-Racketeering Act any person who in connection with the moving of goods in interstate commerce obtains or attempts to obtain payment of money or other consideration by the use of, or threat to use, force, violence or coercion is subject to punishment. There is a qualifying clause that on its face is innocent enough. It provides that "payment of wages by a bona-fide employer to a bona-fide employee" is excluded. This clause now proves all-controlling as to whether the defendants were guilty.

What the defendants did, according to the testimony, was to form into roving groups and stop trucks of non-union employers as they reached New York from out of town, refusing to permit them to proceed or unload without the "help" of a member of a local union. The "help" sometimes consisted solely of watching the regular driver work, for which "help" the fee on large trucks was $9.42 and on smaller trucks $8.41. This is what Mr. Arnold termed an "economic toll bridge" which he estimated added $1,000,000 to the cost of trucking food and other commodities into the city.

Nevertheless, six members of the high court rule, in an opinion by Justice Byrnes, that the objective of the defendants was to become bona-fide employees and that, therefore, they were immune to prosecution as racketeers under the act, even if they committed violence. Chief Justice Stone's characterization of this judicial construction will meet with wide appeal. As he observed in his vigorous dissent it is rendering "common law robbery an innocent pastime" to say that a truck owner who paid money "only in order to avoid a beating" was a bona-fide employer.

It won't be long till we'll get the first breath of spring—from green onions or the burning of house-cleaning trash.

Missing Chicago Man's Car Is Abandoned Here

Local and state police were today investigating the abandonment of a car, the license of which was issued to G. W. Cross, 2314 North Rutherford, Chicago, who is being sought for by his family and the sheriff of Kendall county. The abandoned car, bearing a 1942 Illinois license plate and Chicago tax sticker, was reported hauled to a local garage yesterday, pending police investigation.

Through the state police headquarters east of Sterling, it was learned that the license was issued to Cross, who was wanted by the Kendall county sheriff on a reckless driving charge. Local police were instructed to apprehend the Chicagoan if found in Dixon to be turned over to the Kendall county sheriff.

Early today state police notified the local authorities that Cross' family reported that he had disappeared from his home in Chicago last Tuesday, March 10. He was described as being 37 years of age, weighing 170 pounds, of medium build and is being sought by the local officers today.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, March 14—Mr. Roosevelt resurrected a lost chord—the fear of inflation—in his farm speech, and Mrs. Roosevelt's column a day or so later said she now is in favor of freezing prices, wages and profits to dissolve that fear.

Such outward manifestations usually reflect inner preparations for action, and this time they seem to forecast an imminent presidential request to congress for legislation to freeze the present circumference of our expanding economic bubble.

What has warmed up this subject, weeks after congressional and public demand thinned out, is that Henderson apparently has found he cannot do it his way. Piecemeal restraints on a few "important" prices have not kept the general price level from continuing to rise. Informal price fixing has proved only a sieve-like deterrent, not a stopper.

The country meanwhile is in the midst of a period of plant conversion from the making of people's goods to war goods. Less and less goods for the people are going to be available from now on, but the people (as a whole) have more and more money with which to buy goods they cannot get. The tax bill, stiff as it is, and the war-bond-selling program, good as it is, are both insufficient to absorb all this idle money.

Unanimity of official opinion, therefore, is veering to long delayed refrigeration.

Henderson has been chasing prices with a feather. He has worked this way:

When his scouts saw a certain price rising above what they thought it should be, they issued a warning to the industry, say, for example, the wastepaper industry. A meeting was called and generally an informal agreement to hold various prices was adopted.

If these continued to increase, as did wastepaper, he wrote the industry a letter asking it to freeze. If this did not work, he issued a temporary regulation good for 60 days.

When that failed, as it frequently has, he had to investigate profits, production costs, etc., not only of that industry but all related industries, before he could issue an order actually fixing the price of the wastepaper. It is impossible to do this with hundreds of thousands of products in their hundreds of thousands of stages.

Notable other instances in which this system has similarly failed include certain types of chemicals, used tires, rubber, cigarettes.

Only way to stop prices is to stop them, and then start in making corrections. But for some reason Henderson does not seem anxious to do that on his own yet, wants a law to back him up, a law which would expand the freezing to wages, farm prices and profits, so as to make it effective for national economic results.

Government economists have been cussing Uncle Henry Morgenthau up and down departmental corridors for failing to make his tax bill sufficiently confiscatory of this idle money. His corporation tax would run from 65 to 80 per cent on business profits and very heavily upon professional and middle class people, but the idle money is not in these hands. It is in the hands of union labor and the lower income factory groups. Thus, while it is theoretically possible to dry up inflation with taxes, it is politically impossible.

Another thing which the government economists overlook in considering the overall growth of national income, is that the salary of the average white collar worker, the income of the doctor, dentist, storekeeper, professor, has not been increased, while his taxes have been trebled and quadrupled. Taxes on all, designed to saturate the inflation income of the factory group, would be indefensible.

Rationing plus price-fixing might do the anti-inflation job, but the government officials seem unsure about overall rationing. A vast mechanical organization would be necessary to effect it and enforce it. Details would take a long time to work out. At least, these are the objections cited by government authorities and likely to guide Roosevelt's decision.

Before any step can be taken, however, it is evident the government will have to coordinate its price-treasury - wage - agriculture policies. The only one who can do it is Roosevelt himself.

So far, Morgenthau has been making tax policy, Henderson price policy, the farm bloc and lobby the agricultural policy, and the labor unions the wage policy. The interest of each is conflicting with all the others and the whole. Morgenthau wants revenue, Henderson wants all prices down,

Almost Forgotten Book in Demand; War Cause
Chicago, March 14—(AP)—The war boosted an almost forgotten University of Chicago textbook practically into the best seller class.

Originally published some 50 years ago, it was revised in 1924 by Col. J. G. McIlroy, U. S. A., who commented at the time: "Interest will be small except in the event of war." From 1924 until Pearl Harbor 1,000 copies sufficed for the demand. Only eight copies sold in the first 11 months of last year.

Since Dec. 7 reprinting has been necessary, 250 copies have been distributed and a London publisher cabled today for 500 copies for use by the British war office. The book is "Chamberlain's Japanese Grammar."

Youth Seeks to Avenge Jap Cruelties to Girl
Los Angeles, March 14—(AP)—Eric Wilson, 20, and Chinarese, has asked for work in the U. S. Naval intelligence service, explaining that he wants to avenge Japanese cruelties to his sweetheart and his father.

"My girl, Ethel Guravich, was attacked, tortured by 10 Japanese soldiers and left in the street at Yenching to die," Wilson told naval officials.

"My father, Dr. Earl O. Wilson, who remained to serve as professor of science in Yenching University, was put in a concentration camp and there is a 50-50 chance that he is still alive."

He said his knowledge of Chinese and Japanese languages might be of use to the navy.

Lenten Speaker

DR. JAMES W. CLARKE

One of the few men ever to be invited to address the Chicago Sunday Evening club twice in the same year, will speak on "When the Battle Tide Turns" in Dixon tomorrow evening at the union Lenten service to be held in St. Paul's Lutheran church at 7:45. Dr. Clarke, known as one of the outstanding preachers of Canada, where he was pastor of the Knox church of Winnipeg, was last year invited to become professor of preaching at the Presbyterian Theological Seminary of Chicago. The union service is sponsored by five of the downtown churches of Dixon, and an invitation is extended to all others who do not have services in their own churches at that time.

Dr. Clarke was born in Glasgow, Scotland in 1891, and as a young man went to Manitoba, Canada, where he worked as a student missionary among incoming settlers and lumberjacks. From 1932 until he came to Chicago last fall, he was pastor of the historic Knox church in Winnipeg, where a thousand new members were received during his pastorate. Under his leadership the young people's program became the largest of its kind in the Dominion with 2,000 enrolled in its organized midweek activities. During the world war, Dr. Clarke served overseas for four years and was awarded the Military Cross at the battle of Amiens.

SERIAL STORY

KINGS ROW

BY HENRY BELLAMANN

OUT OF DANGER

CHAPTER XXVIII

PARRIS shoved a chair toward the kitchen table and sat down. Randy stood for a moment looking at him.

"What's the matter, Randy?" "You said just now that you considered Drake all right—just as he always was. What about you?"

Parris looked puzzled. Randy finished the preparations for coffee. "Yes, Parris, you. I've known ever since you got back here to Kings Row that you're not happy. I don't mean to meddle with your business in any way, but—I just wondered if there is anything I can do for you."

"You're a sweet kid to think about me, but it's just a matter of readjustment. I—I didn't like Kings Row when I came back."

"And now you want to go away?"

"You were never more mistaken in your life. I've got my job—it's work I like and want to do."

"I'm glad, Parris. I'd hate to see you go away."

"I never expect to. It's a little hard to explain, but in some way that lies considerably beyond the ordinary meaning of the word, this is home. I was pretty suddenly and violently uprooted, and when I came back there didn't seem to be anything here that I thought was here. My friendship with Drake was about all that was left of parent soil—do you understand what I mean?"

"I think so."

"Drake, and old Professor Berdoff. Well—it took me a while to put down roots again. The hospital is new ground, of course."

Randy nodded. "Randy, do you know what mysticism is?"

"I kind of know, I guess. Belief in something that is behind something else that isn't there."

Parris laughed, and Randy set cups on the table.

"Well, that'll do as a starting point! I hate mysticism, as I hate everything that isn't clear. And that's ridiculous, too, because just about all of my work is concerned with chasing spooks that aren't there. I have to try to keep myself and my ideas realistic, but hallucinations—I'm getting off the track. I started out to say something else. I'm not exactly in love with Kings Row, nor with the town, or the way it looks, nor any places in the town, nor the people that live here. But I'm attracted to the stages of being I went through right here."

"I understand something of what you mean. Go on."

"I thought and felt certain things here. Now a lot of people carry their spiritual homes around with them—either inside of them, or, well, maybe the way a snail carries his shell on his back: I can't do that. I have to have a place. And, strangely enough, this is my place. I know in some sort of way that I've got to be here. I used to love to walk about the country—and just look at it. I have to learn to do that again."

Parris laughed. "I'm talking too much."

"It's your own medicine, Doctor."

"What?"

"You know—talking it out. You've explained it to me."

"Well, I know I'm going home—that's the first time I've said 'home' since I landed here!"

"Maybe you ought to get married, Parris."

He looked at her thoughtfully. "No, Randy, I don't think so. There doesn't seem to be any room anywhere for that kind of an arrangement."

Very truly,

Parris frowned. Mrs. Henry Gordon! Strange...

He turned and looked around the apartment. The door stood open into his study. Beyond he could see a dim light burning in the bedroom. He had called this "home." Without thinking.

It was a small apartment on the fifth floor of the central administrative building of the hospital, identical with those assigned to all bachelor staff members.

Randy's suggestion that he marry found no response in him, nor did it disturb him in any way. There was no one... But something else did disturb him. Just two words she had spoken in her friendly fashion: "And you?"

Oh, drat Randy's teasing question!

BAD TASTE . . . all the way through the Sectional tourney the Dukes got hardly a mention from the Associated Press daily write-ups concerning the tourneys throughout the state . . . and not once were the Dukes picked to win any one game by the so-called authorities of the game . . . and each time they won Mr. AP tagged it "upset" . . . even after the Dukes thumped the Cavaliers so badly o' man AP again voiced "upset" . . . that word is becoming mighty darned monotonous . . . for in all three games that the Dukes played in the Ottawa Sectional they outclassed their opponents by the mere fact of being better basketball players . . . Pvt. Con Gebbie, former sports editor of the Watertown (S.D.) public opinion and now an official war lecturer, sends this interesting note from Camp Croft 3, C.):

"I have found that the men easily grasp technical problems when we like the opposing armies football teams or baseball plays. . . I'd be surprised to see the interest displayed by the men when we compare a pincers movement with the forward charge of the football ends, or a 'defense-in-depth' plan with a 6-2-4 defense, or a panzer attack with a lightning sweep around left end. . . 'Today's army, made up of shorts-wearing Americans, gives up nothing when it comes to quarterbacking on the battlefield.'"

In honor of Hermon Phillips, who originated the Butler Relays back in 1933, the principal trophies at tonight's meet will be 11-sized gold replicas of one of the track shoes Phillips wore when he was a quarter-mile on the 1928 Olympic team. . . Seems Hermon must have been footloose those days.

Two State Employees Indicted for Arson

Ottawa, Ill., March 14—(AP)—LaSalle county grand jury returned indictments yesterday against Don C. Neal and Clarence Hester, employees of the state division of waterways, on charges of arson and malicious burning of personal property.

The two men who worked in the Lockport office of the Illinois-chigan canal, were charged with destruction on Jan. 29 of a back in which Steve Beek lived and which had been given a 60-day notice to date.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—The baseball season is a month away, but the world champion New York Yankees already have started a few "streaks." The Yanks have won three exhibition games in a row, the last two by shutouts, and haven't been scored on in 28 innings.

Clearwater, Fla.—The Indians will send veterans Al Smith, Joe Kraskauskas and Clint Brown against the Red Sox today in an effort to get the tribe back in the winning column after dropping three straight. Shortstop-Manager Lou Boudreau went to bed with a sore throat yesterday and Otto Denning, rookie catcher, was ordered to the sidelines for the rest of the grapefruit season because of a broken finger on his throwing hand.

De Land, Fla.—Harold Clift and Walt Judnich each hit a homer and accounted for five runs as the Browns regulars trimmed the Yannis 10-2 in yesterday's intrasquad game. Manager Luke Sewell plans to pitch a pair of rookie lefthanders, Clarence Iott and Ewall Pyle, against the Kansas City Blues today.

Los Angeles—Although Shortstop Leo Wells' batting average of .277 with St. Paul last year wouldn't make him a cleanup hitter, Manager Jimmy Dykes has him batting fourth in the White Sox lineup. Dykes insists he's counting on Wells as his shortstop. The cleanup position was held last year by Shortstop Luke Appling, a holdout.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Cardinal pitchers again turned in fashionable performances as the Red Birds defeating the Tigers, 4-1, yesterday. Rookie John Beazley was the best, allowing only two hits, one of the scratch variety, and did not walk a batter. Matt Surkont, another rookie whose chief handicap is wildness, hurled three innings without issuing a pass.

Avalon, Calif.—Five White Sox errors helped the Cubs win their first spring game, 13-3, yesterday, but the winners also blasted 16 hits while the American Leaguers were being held to seven. Stan Hack had three for five and Lou Stringer hit two for two, knocking in three runs.

Italian Radio Tells of Torpedoing of British Transport "Queen Mary"

Rome (from Italian Broadcasts) March 14—(AP)—The Italian radio quoted "Argentine maritime circles" today as saying the great British liner Queen Mary had been torpedoed and badly damaged several days ago shortly after leaving Rio de Janeiro with 10,000 "North American" soldiers aboard.

The radio declared the Queen Mary was "attempting to reach the British base in the Falkland islands."

(The navy department in Washington said it had no information or comment with respect to the Italian broadcast.)

Coach L. E. Sharpe's indomitable Dukes blazed into the realm of glory last night by winning the Ottawa Sectional Tournament Championship as they thoroughly administered a sound thumping to the LaSalle-Peru Cavaliers and won their right to be classed as one of the State's "Sweet Sixteen" basketball teams. This Duke feat goes unparalleled in the history of Dixon high school athletics for no other team from Dixon has ever won a Sectional Championship. Not only will these boys be carrying the first Dixon try at state honors but they will also be representing the first North Central Conference member to ever get into the state play-off.

The Dukes had their way through the entire game even though the Cavaliers did hold an even edge on the scoring at the end of the first quarter. The Dukes' speed, their change of pace in using a fast break and their accurate scoring accounted for the complete bewildering of the L. P. cagers. In the third quarter at one time it looked as though the Cavaliers might stage a comeback by Cy Shank blasted all of their hopes with his hot scoring spree that netted him five goals in this period. Through the fourth period the game was kept on ice as they continued their offensive march which outscored the Cavaliers 12 to 8.

We can't take any one Duke and brand him as the winning factor. The Dukes won their sectional championship last night because the eight boys that saw action were at all times a cooperative unit functioning for merely two purposes: one, which was to score, and another which was to stop all Cavalier threats.

First Quarter

The Dukes jumped into a quick lead on Leeper's bucket but it was matched with one by Harker of the opponents. L. P. went into the lead on a goal by McInerney but Leeper tied the game up with a goal. Joop, L. P. guard, put his mates in front 5 to 4 as he collected one on Shank's foul. Reynolds put the Dukes back in front with two charity tosses on Turner's personal. Shank added a bucket to give the Dukes an 8 to 5 lead in the middle of the first quarter. Turner came back to collect two tallies on Reynolds' foul. McInerney added a goal and Turner collected another free throw on VanMeter's foul which put the Cavaliers in front 10 to 8. Leeper tied the game up just before the period's whistle on a bucket and the count stood at 10 all.

Second Quarter

L. P. immediately took the lead in the second stanza on McInerney's goal. VanMeter aided the Dukes with a charity shot on Joop's foul and Leeper tied the game up with one out of two free throw on Harker's personal. Reynolds counted twice on free throws by Turner's foul and Dixon took the lead at 14 to 12 and from here on not once relinquished it. Shank hit a bucket. Leeper scored a goal and collected a free one as he was fouled doing it then to really save his feelings concerning the personal he dumped in another bucket which ran the Duke lead up to 21 to 12. McInerney scored for L. P. at this time on Reynolds' second foul of the game. As the period ended Loftus got a free one on Joop's personal which made the half-time score in the Dukes' favor at 22 to 13.

On Ice

LaSalle started out in a business like manner to even up the nine point margin as Sainai dropped in a goal but their enthusiasm was shortlived for Leeper came right back with a bucket. Shank added an over-head hook shot from out on the floor which had the crowd agog. Loftus made one on McInerney's third personal. Reynolds garnered two on a goal at this time. Loftus added a goal and Shank whipped in another one of those dazzle razzle swishers which put the game on ice for the Dukes for they now held a lead of 33 to 15.

McInerney added a point for L. P. on Leeper's third personal but Shank retaliated with a goal. Sainai hit two for the Cavaliers. Harker added a goal. Turner collected a bucket and Shank scored Dixon's last in the third frame. Turner added a point on Van Meter's second personal and the

Three Men En Route to Cage Game are Killed

Bridgeport, Ill., March 14—(AP)—Three Olney residents on their way to the sectional high school basketball tournament here were killed last night in a five-car collision on U. S. highway 50 a mile west of the city limits.

The dead: Clifford Underhill, Everett Underhill and Clarence Sprague.

Sprague was the father of Donald Sprague, a member of the Olney team, who left at the start of the Olney-Allendale game when he was informed of the accident.

Alabama has had four capitals. In 1817 it was St. Stephens, in 1820 it was Cahaba, and in 1826 at Tuscaloosa. Not until 1846 was it permanently located at Montgomery.

If you have a house or a room for rent—advertise it in the classified ad page of The Dixon Evening Telegraph.

Dixon high school's sectional champion basketball team, the Dukes, is shown above with the trophy the team received after its victory over LaSalle-Peru at Ottawa last evening, details of which will be found in an adjoining column. Members of the championship squad, left to right are: seated, Athletic Director A. C. Bowers, Frank Leeper, Jo VanMeter, Paul Reynolds, Cyril Shank and John Loftus; standing, Asst. Coach Clem Lindell, William Goff, Walter Knack, Jr., Bryce Hubbard, Robert Marshall, Robert Alexander, and Coach L. E. Sharpe.

Dixon Called Upset Over LaSalle-Peru; Morton a Favorite

(By The Associated Press)
There were 16 teams left in the running today for the Illinois State High School Basketball championship now held by Morton of Cicero, but Morton was one of the 16 and may have plenty to say about anyone else taking over the throne.

A tough team when the chips are down, Morton conquered York of Elmhurst, 27 to 19, last night in the sectional finals at Maywood. Only a week before, in the regional finals, York had defeated Morton, 29 to 28. The victory was the 20th in 24 starts for Coach Norman Ziebell's five, which bears little resemblance to last year's winning quintet.

Morton wasn't supposed to win the title last year. The advance dope was all in favor of Centralia, but the Cicero boys forgot to read the papers and bumped off Centralia, 30-29, in the semi-finals at Champaign.

Centralia will be back, too, but it comes without the advance billing of invincibility and without the superlative record of last year. However, Centralia's current lineup does include one striking similarity to that of last year—Dwight Edleman, the one-man scoring spree and hailed as the greatest prep player of Illinois history, is still there.

Coach A. L. Trout's five kept in the running by trimming Mt. Vernon, a team that had twice licked Centralia this season, 43 to 42. And, to prove that Edleman isn't the whole team, the orphans won with the great "Dyke" on the bench almost all the last quarter, repending four personal fouls. Farrell Robinson, a little forward, was the man of the hour for Centralia as he rushed under the basket with only 40 seconds to play and the score favoring Mt. Vernon, 42 to 40, to score a goal that knotted the count. He was fouled on the play by Junior Kirk. Mt. Vernon captain who had scored 23 points, and cashed in on the penalty toss for the victory.

A total of 41 personals were called in the game, and by the finish all five Mt. Vernon regulars had been banished. Edleman scored 21 points before leaving.

Dixon Wins

And don't overlook Urbana for Coach Lew Stephens will have his charges back again this year. Urbana was the runner-up last year, losing to Morton, 32 to 31, in the closing seconds of play. Urbana bumped off its cross-town rival, Champaign, in the sectional finals, 34 to 27.

Paris, the toast of southeastern Illinois with 36 straight triumphs, breezed into the finals with a 43 to 26 win over Mattoon. Being one of the "Sweet Sixteen" is nothing novel for Paris, since Coach Ernest Eveland's quintets appeared at Champaign in 1936, 1938, 1939 and 1940.

Streator, breezing along the victory road, added its 30th triumph against only one defeat, at the expense of Sheldon, 48 to 33. Sheldon, which had lost only one game in 36 starts, simply was overpowered.

The two upsets of last night's play were provided by Dixon and Normal Community. Dixon, which hadn't been given an outside chance at Ottawa, downed LaSalle-Peru, 51 to 33. It was the first sectional winner for Coach L. E. Sharpe, now in his 13th year of coaching, and the victory was achieved on Friday, the 13th.

Normal Community, overlooked in all advance picking at Peoria, brushed aside East Peoria, 37 to 36.

Decatur, another familiar team in the finals and champion in 1931 and 1936, earned the right to another try for the title by eliminating Taylorville, 40 to 38. Shortly after the opening of the fourth quarter Taylorville held a five point lead, but it melted away before the determined Decatur challenge.

Olney, a runner-up in its regional, vanquished Allendale, 36 to 30, at Bridgeport. Olney and Morton are the only teams which have been defeated in tournament play still in the running.

Moline, a regular in the finals with appearances in 1934, 1935, 1936, 1937, 1939 and 1940, won its sectional over Rock Island, 41 to 28. Wood River's 56 to 18 win over Pinckneyville was its 20th straight victory since Christmas.

Chicago's champion—the 16th entry in the finals—was to be determined this afternoon in a game between Kelly and Lindholm.

Top Spot of Major Bowling League in Two Way Tie

The Dixon Cafe and the Dixon Paint bowling teams kept the Major Bowling League's first spot all tied up last night at the Dixon Recreation as each won two games and lost one.

The Cafe team had a comfortable margin in their two game win over the Hunter Co. Worley uncorked a hot one from his system as he cut the pins down to the series tune of 620.

The Dixon Paint team had a close squeak as they managed to retain a tie for first place by winning two games from the Schlitz Beer Bowlers. Johnson hit the high mark for the painters with a series of 583. F. Smith paced the Schlitz outfit with a 525 series.

The Sunnybrook team won two from the Reynolds Wire team as J. Smith hit a 560 series to be high man for the winners and Riddbauer turned in the high count for the Wire-men with a 514 series.

The Freeman team won three straight from the Hub Tavern bowlers. Meyers bowled high for the Freeman bunch with a 499 and Wilhelm and E. Klein each rolled 418 to lead the losers.

HE KNEW
A class was asked in a Sunday school examination to give the meaning of the word "selah." For a while no answer was forthcoming. Then a small boy held up his hand.
"Well?" said the teacher.
"Please, sir," said the lad, "that's what David used to say when he'd break a string on his harp."

New York Unionist Accuses Lewis of Hitler-Like Acts

New York, March 14—(AP)—By personal order of President John L. Lewis of the CIO-United Mine Workers, the charter of a New York union local which had accused Lewis of non-cooperation with war work has been revoked. Representatives of the UMW by-products division descended upon the offices of the local—the Chemical Drug & Cosmetics Workers of America, 12,165—with a court order this week and stripped them of furniture and records covering 2,500 members.

Lewis in his formal order said the charter was being revoked because the local had refused to comply with an order to break up into "smaller and more efficient units"; because it had fallen two months behind in its payment of per capita dues to the parent union and because it had denied access to its books to national union auditors.

Declaring the charter revocation was "Hitler-like" and predicting a nationwide revolt of UMW workers against Lewis, local vice president Samuel Machlis said he would appeal the ouster to CIO

President Philip Murray, who is vice president of the UMW.
"The only crime of our organization," Machlis said, "was that it particularly supported the war policies of President Roosevelt and the national CIO."

Burgess Workers Vote No Union Bargainers

Freeport, Ill., March 14—(AP)—Under supervision of the National Labor Relations Board, a minority of employees at the Burgess Battery Company have voted for no union as its collective bargaining agent. Employees voting for no union totaled 375 while 265 votes went to the AFL-affiliated labor machinists local 1096.

A strike was called Oct. 13 when AFL machinists demanded a new contract and wage increases, but was called off after the dispute was certified to the mediation board on Nov. 24. The dispute was finally placed before the War Labor Board on Jan. 13, when the company was reported producing equipment for the signal corps and airplane industry.

PAGE 1—source said today he had information that Adolf Hitler has proposed a grandiose scheme of world conquest to Japan involving a Japanese attack on Russia and a joint German-Japanese campaign in Africa. The information was said to have come from diplomatic listening posts and agents in Europe and the Far East. This source said he had "absolute verification" of reports that a Japanese military mission had been sent to Vichy-governed Madagascar off the African east coast. Hitler's proposal to Tokyo, source said, apparently involved these moves: 1—Japan would push into India from Burma and, at the same time attack South and East Africa to cut the British and American supply lines around the cape. 2—Japan would attack Russia from Manchukuo "when the time is ripe" in an effort to help Hitler force the Soviet union into a separate peace—by autumn if possible.

3—Hitler would "force" the Vichy government to help supply Gen. Erwin Rommel's Nazi force in North Africa, and hand over two French battleships for raids to the British and United States naval forces busy in the Atlantic. 4—Italy would be required to use her navy in a Nazi-directed Mediterranean sea campaign intended to break through to the Indian ocean to unite with Japan.

Farm Supply Funds

some of the more drastic house cuts restored in the senate. One house member predicted the senate not only would restore some of the cuts but would increase the original amounts.

FSA Fund Reduced

The deepest reductions were in funds for rural rehabilitation work under the Farm Security Administration, and for operations under the Bankhead-Jones farm tenant act. The former was cut $25,000,000 and loan authorizations for the latter were pared $20,000,000.

Still in the bill as it went to the senate was the administration-opposed clause prohibiting the selling of government-controlled surplus commodities at prices below parity. The house modified the ban to allow sales of commodities for relief, or deteriorated grains for feeding and for use in the production of alcohol, and of cotton for experimental purposes.

Commissioner Joe Vaile Criticizes Garbage Service

Commissioner Joe E. Vaile of the department of streets was quite emphatic in his statement concerning the collection of garbage and ashes in the city, when he spoke at the weekly session of the city commission last evening and for several minutes the conversation between the commissioner and Mayor Slothower was quite heated. The discussion came to an end when members of the police department experienced some difficulty in placing a prisoner in the cell block in the basement of the city hall, the noise disturbing the council session, which was quickly adjourned.

Commissioner Vaile opened the subject by stating that he would not vote to award the contract for garbage and ash removal to a bidder who was not properly equipped to furnish the service for which the citizens of Dixon paid taxes and to which they were entitled. To this Mayor Slothower briefly referred to the state law which provides that a tax may be collected and used for garbage removal. The mayor stated that at one time the city of Dixon was in the garbage and ash removal business but that the action of the legislature had provided a method whereby this was no longer necessary.

To Start April 1st Mayor Slothower agreed with Commissioner Vaile's argument that the garbage collection service last year was not up to standard of the previous two years, but added that in awarding the contract this year the bids would not only be carefully scrutinized, but that the contractor would be required to have auxiliary equipment and would also post a bond for performance of duty. He also indicated that the collection would start shortly, on April 1st.

"The trucks in my department and the workmen as well, have been called upon to enter the garbage collection business in Dixon for the past two years," Vaile stressed. "I notified the mayor and Commissioner Tyler four months ago that I did not intend to use my equipment again in the collection of garbage for which bids are received and a contract awarded to an individual who is presumed to be responsible in performing this very necessary service to the citizens of Dixon, who pay a tax for that service," Commissioner Vaile concluded.

The only matter of business coming before the council was the payment of claims totalling $3,109.20.

oshenko is making on the extreme southern front.

Here the marshal is said to be employing between 1,250,000 and 1,500,000 troops in an onslaught which appears to have two main objectives: (1) To regain control of the gateway to the Caucasus which Hitler hopes to crash so as to get to the oil and other resources which he must have, and (2) To force the Germans out of the Crimea and restore the Red domination of the Black Sea. Mastery of this great water is of utmost importance to Hitler in any operations in that theater whether against Russia or Turkey.

And the Russians say that when spring arrives it will find them prepared to back their offensive with a reserve of 20,000,000 in manpower—far greater than Hitler can muster to bolster his badly manhandled armies. Theoretically that's enough to stand Hitler on his head, provided the Reds have equipment. They will need many supplies from their colleagues and that means chiefly our Uncle Sam. However, it's a grand investment toward the allied cause.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ON THE MASSES

Robinson, Ill., Feb. 23—Well, now we know what we are. We are unenlightened, according to Mrs. Roosevelt. This is in line with the well known Roosevelt theory that any one who disagrees with them is dumb, or contrary, or both. If, as Mrs. Roosevelt claims, she has enlisted as a "common soldier," she is one up on her sons.

Responsible authorities disclosed that the opinion of all sections of the nation would be sampled informally. The poll is to get the people's views on such controversial issues as strikes, wage controls, price fixing, longer hours in war plants and even on the conduct of the military campaigns.

Results of the survey may be far from complete, an influential member of congress said there was no doubt that extensive dissatisfaction had been expressed with the progress of the military production program. This dissatisfaction was said to center on strikes and lack of materials as factors contributing to the slowing of the program.

Complaints Increase Members of congress also have been receiving an increasingly large number of complaints, Senator Thomas (D-Okla.) declared yesterday in letters he addressed to Donald M. Nelson, war production chief, cabinet members and other officials.

Asking the officials to appear before a senate appropriations subcommittee for general questioning, Thomas said it was obvious to him the public thought the 40-hour-week law, "exorbitantly high prices being paid for labor" and the prevalence of strikes were retarding the war effort.

President Roosevelt told his press conference yesterday that the question of wage controls as a war measure was under consideration. Most administration supporters in congress concluded that if legislation of this nature was asked, it would be in a form linking wages to the cost of living.

Four minor roles were shared by Bill Thompson as "Buzz" Daily, Bob's chum; Virginia Dodd, as Miriam Walker, Mary's friend; Dick Keller, as Hope's lover, Sanford Welles; and Sylvia Heckman, as Mrs. Forester, the cranky widow whose car is damaged in the accident involving "Buzz" and Bob. And the division was so neatly done into four parts that the only fair way to mention the quartet would be in alphabetical order.

All in all, it was a decidedly successful show, a performance that reflects a large share of the evening's orchids to the director, Miss Merry Coffey, a newcomer to the Dixon high school faculty this year.

Crop Report Army Tells Answers of Farmers to Needs

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 14—(AP)

—Some 7,500 farmers in all sections of Illinois thoughtfully chewed their pencils and took stock of their farm land this week as they listed the crops they expect to plant this spring.

Adding machines and comptometers buzzed and clicked in the office of the government crop reporting service here as the reports began pouring in.

The volunteer army of crop reporters is at work and this scientifically-conducted farm poll will disclose to what extent the Illinois farmer is increasing production to meet the challenge of war.

This spring the farmer who also serves as an unpaid crop reporter takes on new importance because of war demands, but the business of collecting agricultural information vital to the farmer and businessman alike has been going on since 1863, when a division of agricultural statistics was established during Abraham Lincoln's administration.

The March "crop intentions report" is taken yearly and this year government experts are depending on the poll to reflect big war-time seedings. Corn, of course, will remain the state's biggest crop with an anticipated increase of five to 10 per cent over last year's planting of 7,645,000 acres.
